SANTORA WINNER IN SIXTH ROUND

NEWS PARAGRAPHS OF CURRENT STAGE OFFERINGS

Frankie Howe Was Disqualified After Repeatedly Hitting His Opponent Low in Clinches.

After repeatedly hitting low in mix-up throughout his bout with Nick Santora at the West End Club last night, Frankie Howe was disqualified by Referee Sharpe in the sixth round.

For the early stages of the bout Howe was about even. Both boys fought desperately, but Howe did most leading, with Santora holding back and playing a waiting game. To every rush of Howe's Santora had a straight left ready, but Frankie's appetite at slipping enabled him to avoid many of Nick's punches for the first two rounds.

In the third period Santora cut loose and commenced to send riches over with frequency. He landed repeatedly on Howe's ribs, worried the latter by hooking him sharply at close range and occasionally sent in a swipe to the jaw which made Howe break ground.

In the fourth round Howe commenced to back toward the close, and in the fifth round Nick had him swaying with repeated blows to the face and stomach. In the middle period of the round Howe commenced to sway and in the fourth he was swinging wildly with him at pleasure.

The fifth and sixth saw Howe come back rather strongly, but the last round proved to be a final caution, that his disqualification would result if he again offended. He was instantly ordered to his corner when he again struck Santora in the region of the groin.

Santora had winning margin at the time and was in good trim for the battle. He put up a clean fight throughout, and held a safe edge over Howe at the end of the third round.

An event card for the evening, between Carol Cain and W. E. O'Brien of Philadelphia, Referee Sharpe stopped the fight in the second round, after Cain had repeatedly sent O'Brien staggering, and had proven himself the better man.

The semiprofessional showed up Harry Trennell as a first-class boy of his weight, before the referee's verdict in the second round. Trennell put up a good fight throughout, and easily held the lead over Kid Bernstein.

Yunker to Fight Here.

Amateur club last evening, the situation was under new management and that the leading feature of the evening was a fight between Yunker and "Battling" Nelson. Yunker, a former professional, was brought in to fight the local champion, Nelson, in the professional world were mentioned before the institution in the near future.
